The medal on the left is homage from the ACFAS to Doctor Armand Frappier. He was given this medal in 1954. It bears the effigy of Urgel-Eugène Archambault, first principal of the Engineering and Polytechnic School of Montréal. The French Canadian Association for the Advancement of Science (Acfas) was founded in 1923 by the first French-speaking scientists in the country: the dean of the Université de Montréal, the Bishop Vincent Piette, friar Marie-Victorin, Léo Pariseau, PhD, Arthur Bernier, PhD, Édouard Asselin, PhD, the economist Édouard Montpetit, the Society for Biology of Montréal, etc. The Acfas is nowadays called French Speaking Association for Knowledge (Association francophone pour le savoir-Acfas).
